 Poem in remembrance pf Vera's sister Eva
 We had a little treasure once Little lips so sweet to kiss
 She was our joy and pride Are closed forever now.
 We loved her, Oh, perhaps too well Those sparkling eyes that shone so
 For soon she slept and died. bright
 All is dark in our dwelling Beneath that pearly brow.
 LONELY OUR HEARTS TO DAY That little heart that beat so high,
 For the one we loved so dearly Free from all care and gloom,
 Has forever passed away. Are hidden now from those she loved
 This lovely bud so young and fair Beneath the solemn tomb.
 Called hence by early doom. Another little lamb has gone
 Just came to show how sweet a flow- To dwell to Him who gave er Another darling little babe
 In Paradise would bloom. Is sheltered in the grave.
 The sin could harm of sorrow fade, God needs one more angel child
 Death came with friendly care. Admidst His shining band.
 The opening bud of Heaven conveyed And so He sent His loving smile,
 And bade it Blossom there. And clasped our darling's hand.

Memorial of Belle Culbert written by Louisa Jane Aldrich-Shaver
Bell is gone, and Oh how we miss her When we gather round the fire
From our happy household bend; There is now ;one vacant heair;
But we know that she is happy God, look down on earth from Heaven
On a far off Heavenly land. And guide us till we enter there.

Dearest Bell is gone forever, A willing heart and willing hands;
Left then here to mourn her loss; Was her motto here below;
But we hope again to meet her To fulfil the Lons's commands,
When we're numbered with the blest. And His promises to know.

Gone from earth, and earthly trials, Father, Mother, Sister, Brothers,
Care and pain from all set free, Bell has left us, one and all;
She has gone to God the giver, Though you miss her here among us,
And forever there she'll be. She has answers Jesus' Call.

Gone from all her friends forever, Yet we think now of our dear ones
Gone to God and there to dwell Who so patiently did wait;
And our hearts do always grieve us For the Loving call of Jesus,
More than human tongues can tell. Enter now the Pearly Gate.

But she's gone, we cannot wish her
Back to pain and death once more;
So we wait with hopes to meet her

Poetry by Jane West Aldrich to her parents Ira and Luoisia West at Lewiston. N Y from Fairgrove, Mich May 30, 1861

Oh dear, Oh dear, what shall we do?
We want to get some word from you.
The time is long and wishing too
That we could bring about to view
Your kindly faces, we love to see
That at the sight. we could better be.
Better satisfied for it is so long
We've turned our visit into song.
Since waiting makes our hearts do heavy
We, on your time, a tax would levy.
Hoping, when these are at your perusal,
You will not have another refusal,
But, sit right down and write us a letter
On receipt of which, we would be better
Satisfied to wait a while,
If we could gain a greeting smile.
If you can visit our humble home
Will try our best to make you welcome.
The weather is warm and fearfully dry,
When we look over our fields, it makes us sick.
Wheat will be scarce and hay short this year
If we don't get some rain very soon we fear,
Other crops and fruit need rain so bad.
If we could get a shower 'twould make our hearts glad
But we'll trust in Him, who ruleth all things and see
For He has promised, what shall the harvest be?
We are enjoying our usual health
Our wants are supplied, which is wealth.
Hoping this will find you all right,
I will close by wishing you all goodnight.
Wishing to hear from you soon,
Or that to see you will come.
